A FLORIDA DAIRY.
BY MRS. HARRIET BEECHER STOWE.

Our dairy woman is an ancient, strong-minded, strong-limbed sibil from South Carolina, who is generally called Aunt Winnah. The whole care of milking, butter-making, and the dispensing of milk, is lodged in her hands. We were astonished to hear that the plantation numbered forty cows, and that Aunt Winnah, with one assistant, did all the milking.

But on inquiry we found that this operation consisted only in milking so many of the forty cows as Joe felt disposed to bring up from the woods, or that came up of their own accord to visit their calves, of whom there are about fifteen in a pen near the house.

In Florida cows run wild in the woods, every calf is allowed to grow up to maturity, and everybody's calves run together in the woods. Many stock owners never see their cattle all together from one year's end to another. Enough calves are kept near the house to attract up some of the cows, and it is considered the proper, orthodox way to let the calf suck while the cow is being milked, in order to make her give down her milk. The consequence is that forty cows together do not yield in actual milk more than we have seen given by two good cows treated in the Northern way.

Winnah churns every day—unless Joe forgets to bring up the cows, or something else happens, in which case they go without being milked for a morning or an evening—which fact generally dawns on us in the sudden perception of there being no milk or cream for our breakfast or tea.

Winnah makes valiant fight for her butter, and feels aggrieved at the demand set up by the ladies of the establishment for cream morning and night. Somebody "must" bring up more of dem cows if I'm to give de ladies so much milk and cream; I've no to be no butter, shor." We have sometimes described to Winnah the manner of proceeding with Northern cows, which seems to fill her soul with horror. She informed us that "de cow would jes dry right up if you kill her child."

In vain we describe to her the charms of fresh veal, a dish unknown and inadmissible in Florida. We did succeed in bringing an unctuous glow on the face of the cook by describing the charms of veal pie, but Winnah's brow grew dark as if we had proposed to make it of babies. "I jes so soon see one of my babies killed as one dem calves." The calves, in fact, are the prettiest little things in the world, and at uncertain intervals Winnah stops her washing or whatever she may chance to be about, because her bowels enter into her head to carry some baby to them. Then she will leisurely pet and pat each one, portion off the weaker, discipline the stronger ones with a maternal cuff, now and then to teach them not to be greedy, and then leaning on her elbows over the fence, will smoke her pipe and laugh with full-hearted satisfaction.

If cows were to have a vote they would, doubtless, all agree to come to Florida, for they have it all their own way here.

WONDERFUL RUINS IN SIAM.

The Paris Review of Architecture publishes an account of some wonderful ruins at Ankor Viat, in the Kingdom of Siam, which have only lately become known to Europeans. The structures were the work of some unknown dynasty in remote antiquity. They cover a circle of twelve leagues in diameter. M. Caesar Dory, who furnishes the Review with an account of the ruins, says: "The most celebrated monuments of ancient or modern Europe are mere barracks, compared with these, while our palaces and basilicas, the Vatican and the Coliseum, are little better than dog kennels in comparison." He continues:

"I wished to ascend to a temple which appeared to be in a good state of preservation. There were eleven staircases, of which I know not how many steps, which must be ascended to arrive at the first of the five peristyles. I commenced my upward journey at half-past six in the morning, at half-past seven I had scarcely entered the lower halls. Fearing that I might have to descend the steps in the heat of the day, I was compelled to shorten my visit. The walls are in every part thick and ornamented. The first effect produced upon me was one of amazement. I am no amateur, to go into ecstasies over small things. The next morning I climbed the winding staircase of an immense tower situated on an eminence. Arriving at the summit, I enjoyed the sight of the ruins. There are in localities which I have not penetrated, palaces of a height and grandeur truly colossal. With a field glass I examined the details. The architectural richness is unrivaled, and they extend into the territory of Cambodia, a distance of ten or twelve leagues. Here there are on the ground, and below its surface, marble already hewn in sufficient quantities to build, even as the giants have built here, all the cities of the universe. I have seen the leg of a statue, the great toe of which was eleven times the length of my hunting rifle. There are pedestals of steps reit of their statues, which are more lofty and larger than St. Germain l'Auxerrois. Think of octagonal pyramids cut off at the middle and all in marble." (111)

A CENTRE SHOT.—Henry Ward Beecher, in a sermon delivered in Plymouth Church recently, produced the following picture:

Men seemed ashamed of labor, and often you will find men who have made themselves respected by labor, have built up a business and amassed a fortune, who turn to their sons and say: "You shall never do as I did; you shall lead a different life; you shall be spared all this." Oh, these rich men's sons. They aim to lead a life of emaculated idleness and laziness. Like the polyp that floats useless and motionless on the sea, all jelly, all flabby, no muscles, no bone—it shuts and opens, and opens and shuts, and sucks in and squirts out again, of no earthly account, influence, or use. Such are these poor fellows. Their parents toiled and grew strong, and built up their forms of iron and bone; but denying this to their sons, they turn them upon the world boneless, muscleless, simple gristle, and soft at that."

KNOW THY DESTINY.—MADAME E. F. THORNTON, the great English Astrologist, Clairvoyant and Psychometrist, who has astonished the scientific classes of the Old World, has now located her self at Hudson, N.Y. Madame Thornton possesses such wonderful powers of second sight, as to enable her to impart knowledge of the greatest importance to the single or married of either sex. While in a state of trance, she delineates the very features of the person you are to marry, and by the aid of an instrument of intense power, known as the Psychoscope, guarantees to produce a life-like picture of the future husband or wife of the applicant, together with date of marriage, position in life, leading traits of character, &c. This is no humbug, as thousands of testimonials can attest. She will send, when desired, a certified certificate, or written guarantee, that the picture is what it purports to be. By enclosing a small lock of hair, and stating place of birth, age, disposition and complexion, and enclosing fifty cents and stamped envelope addressed to yourself, you will receive the picture and desired information by return mail. All communications sacredly confidential. Address, in confidence, Madame E. F. Thornton, P. O. Box 223, Hudson, N. Y.

LEGAL NOTICES.

MASTER'S NOTICE.—Edward Stabler's administrator, complainant, vs. Jonathan Butcher, et al., defendants in chancery. By the decree rendered in the above cause on the 4th of December, 1867, by the Circuit Court of Alexandria county, it is ordered that one of the Commissioners of the Court, do inquire and ascertain what estate of the defendant, John Roberts, came into the hands of his executor, P. E. Hoffman, and at what time; and what real estate the said Roberts died seized of, and the value of the real estate of which John B. Patton died seized, and into whose hands the same has passed; and that said Commissioner may, if he deems it necessary, give notice of the time and place of his said account by publication once a week for four successive weeks in a newspaper published in Alexandria, which publication shall be in lieu of personal service.

COMMISSIONER'S OFFICE, June 6, 1867.
Notice is hereby given to all concerned in the estate above referred to, that I have fixed upon FRIDAY, the 6th day of July next, as the time when I shall proceed, at my office, in the city of Alexandria, to execute the said reference.

FERTILIZERS, &c.

GUANO AND FERTILIZERS.
The subscriber has on hand a full assortment of the most approved MANURES, which he is prepared to sell at the lowest market rates.
As the prices are uniform the farmer can obtain his supplies as well by correspondence as though he were to purchase in person.
Peruvian Guano, of the best quality.
Bolivian Guano. This article comes from the same section as Peruvian, which it closely resembles in texture and appearance. It is much richer in Phosphate, but has less Ammonia. For stiff soils of the best qualities of Peruvian Guano and Ground Bones. WM. H. IRWIN, mh 28-11 No. 5, south Union street.

GUANO—REED'S AMMONIATED SUPERPHOSPHATE OF LIME.—The best superphosphate yet offered to the farmer, possessing all the activity of Peruvian Guano, but being far more durable in its effects. It contains a large amount of animal matter, the highly concentrated form, which, combined with its soluble bone phosphate of lime, cannot fail to render it very valuable as a fertilizer. Notwithstanding we believe it to be the best super-phosphate in the market, yet, by a process peculiar to its manufacture, whereby its phosphoric acids are lessened, we are enabled to sell it very low, with a liberal discount to dealers.

REPARATOR CAPILLI.

Throw away your false prizes, your switches, your wig—
Destructive of comfort, and not worth a fig; Come aged, come youthful, come ugly and fair, And rejoice in your own hair, together with REPARATOR CAPILLI.
For restoring hair upon bald heads (from whatever cause it may have fallen out) and forcing a growth of hair upon the face, it has no equal. It will force the beard to grow upon the smoothest face in from five to eight weeks, or hair upon bald heads in from two to three months. A few ignorant practitioners have asserted that there is nothing that will force or hasten the growth of the hair or beard. Their assertions are false, as thousands of living witnesses (from their own experience) can bear witness. But many will say, how are we to distinguish the genuine from the spurious? It is certainly difficult, as nine-tenths of the different preparations advertised for the hair and beard are entirely worthless, and you may have already thrown away large amounts in their purchase. To such we would say, try the Reparat Capilli; it will cost you nothing unless it fully comes up to our representations. If your druggist does not keep it, send us $1, and we will forward it, postpaid, together with a receipt for the money, which will be returned you on application, providing entire satisfaction is not given.
